SOPHOMORES PRESENT FINE PERFORMANCE IN THEIR STAGE DEBUT

The "Sophomore Shipment," presented Saturday night, received Sweet Briar the exceedingly varied talents of the Sophomore class. The originality was refreshing, the plan being carried out even to the programs which were in the form of shipping tags.

At first the shipping room was presented, where the inventory of shipments was read. Boxes, crates and barrels were piled up, about to be sent out to their various destinations. The following four acts then represented the shipments already arrived at the shops of the dealers.

The first shipment was sent to the Bruno-Vic Music Store, where records were played for the approval of two attractive customers. It offered a splendid opportunity for the musically talented of the Sophomore class to show their ability. The records were played on the Victrola and supposedly played, while the music actually came from behind the scenes in the form of voice, organ and piano.

The "Corner Drug Store," where "members of high society" were gathered, was the scene of the arrival of Shipment No. 2—candy. Peppermint sticks of candy came from their box and performed a novel chorus dance.

The scene of Shipment No. 3 was the exclusive shop of M. Jean Jacques, where the most fastidious people (Continued on fourth page.)

MERCER JACKSON IS WINNER IN LAKE DAY

Sweet Briar's annual Lake Day was held Wednesday afternoon, from three until five thirty. Many students, faculty, and other interested people sat on the bank and watched the events as they were run off.

The order of events was:
I. Twenty-five yard dash.
II. Canoe race (doubles).
III. Egg race.
IV. Gunneling race.
V. Form swimming.
VI. Canoe race (fours).
VII. Diving.

The twenty-five yard dash was run off in heat, and the final winner was Kathryn Graham, Sophomore. Mercer Jackson took second place for the Sophomores, and the third place was won by Ruth Graham, Freshman.

The canoe race (doubles) was also run off in heat, the Junior and Sophomores paddling first, and then the Seniors and Freshmen. The Freshmen won first place, time 71 1/2. Joe Gibbs and Virginia Taylor shared the honors. Second place went to the Seniors, Dot Hunte and Lil Wood, doing the paddling.

In the egg race, in which one girl swam to the dock with an egg on a spoon in her mouth and they transferred it to her partner who swam back to the starting point, was won by the Sophomores who were represented by Kathryn Graham and Mercer Jackson. Kay Closs and Gert Fritz won second place for the Juniors.

The gunneling afforded much excitement, and the winners were the Freshmen. Polly Swift, Virginia Taylor, Gertrude Lewis and Joe Gibbs did their paddling. The Juniors captured second place, being represented by Hallie Gubelman, Hulda Hights, Gert Fritz, and Kay Closs.

Form swimming was the next event. Freshman Ehlendaffer came in first, Mercer Jackson won second place, and Alice Bahbit, Head of Lake, third.

Another canoe race (fours) followed, and this was won by the Sophomores, time 68 3/4. Kathryn Graham, Marjorie Sturge, Gert Fritz, and James Spradley were the winners.

The egg race and the Senior egg race were the last and most interesting event and was won by Mercer Jackson. Marjorie Sturge won second place and Gillette Hilton third.

The judges were Miss Gertie, Miss Melik, and Kay Norris. Miss Ricks was the starter and Miss Crawford and Towery, Chalkley, the timers. Dr. Edlin was clerk of the course.

Mrs. Jeffries Heidrick To Address New Voters League

Mrs. Jeffries Heidrick, from Charlottesville, is to be here Tuesday to attend the final meeting of the New Voters League. She is going to talk to the members about the possibilities for work with the National League of Women Voters.

The call has just come out for the eighth Annual Convocation of the Virginia League of Women Voters, which is to be held at the George Mason Hotel, Alexandria, Virginia, May 22nd and 23rd. Each local league throughout the State is entitled to send one delegate and one alternate for each twenty-five or fraction thereof, of its members.

The members of the League are called into convention to weigh the responsibility of women toward government, and to prepare to take part in the political life of the day.

MANY NEW RECORDS IN FIELD EVENTS SET AT TRACK MEET

Records were broken right and left in the Track Meet which was held last Friday afternoon. Hulda Williams was the individual winner of the Meet, with Polly Swift second, and Carolyn Martindale, third. The Freshmen walked off with the class honors, with 35 points; the Sophomores were next with 28 1/2 points; and the Juniors third with 16 1/2 points.

Polly Swift broke two of the college records, that of the shot put and of the basketball throw, and Natalie Roberts broke the running high jump record.

The judges for the Track Events were Dr. Edwards and Miss Rogers; those for the Field Events were Miss Gertie, Miss Melik, and Dr. Edwards. The referee and starter was Miss Rogers.

The first event was the 75 yard dash. This was run in several heats and the crowd gathered on the bank to watch it. Two Freshmen gallantly holding a rope on the other side of the track to keep back an eager crowd, which was conspicuously by its absence, added to the general enjoyment of the afternoon.

The thrilling high jump was the most exciting of all the events. It broke the handspan of heat and caterpillars, the audience at spell-bound as the bar was raised higher and higher. Finally only three jumpers were left. Miss Rogers, with delight in her eye, stood with one foot on the other as all three cleared the bar. She knew what the others did not—that the record was being broken. Finally Natalie Roberts, won the event, breaking the college record by two inches, while Libby Jones and Hulda Williams tied for second place, they also bettering the record by one inch. The former record was 4'6", the new one is 4'8".

OUR PLACE IN AMHERST COUNTY.

When we find time to think, now and then, of all that must take place before commencement, of the countless duties and activities that must fill the few remaining days, we can only question our ability to do it all, and hope for the best. There is so much to remember, so much to plan, so much to accomplish! In addition to the usual schedule of daily events, we are concerned with a few happenings of particular importance, which deserve special attention and need our best consideration.

One of these is the annual observance of Amherst County Day, on May 19th,—when we are to hear Governor Byrd and other prominent speakers. On this day we are given a chance to become familiar with the resources and interests of this section of the country, and to learn more of our own responsibilities as an educational center. Certainly, we should make out plans for next Saturday carefully, so that this important opportunity may be fully enjoyed.

The realization that we are unfamiliar with many aspects of the life and work of Amherst County brings little surprise to most of us, since so much of our attention is claimed by the immediate campus and college community. Nevertheless, a critical self-questioning is rather startling and altogether worthwhile. Just how much do we know of what goes on "over the hills"? Do we understand the history, the social and economic conditions, the public school system of the county in which we are placed? What of its peculiar contributions to State and nation? Its past achievements, present work and future hopes? Perhaps the answers will reveal a lack of information and enthusiastic observation—a narrowed perspective.

But this state of affairs need not be permanent, for Saturday's program is both instructive and interesting. The various committee workers will welcome all efforts and ideas, and we may all enlist our services to make the plans entirely successful. In this way we may become better acquainted with the people of Amherst, especially the young people, and encourage an intimate relationship between Sweet Briar and other parts of the country. We may develop a spirit of cooperation and interest which will be in complete harmony with the true aims of education and the exalted ideals of our founders.

ONE LAST WORD.

Our schedules are made out; we are registered for next year; our rooms are drawn; and all the excitement over a suite in Carson or a single in Handolph has died down. Exams are near—oh how near! And everything else is dwarfed by comparison.

But before we go on let us say a word about these schedules we have been making out. They are not just blue slips of paper, just a matter of an interview with our advisor or our major professor. No, they mean more. They mean that we are being given an opportunity to show our initiative, our judgment, our foresight. Don't let us take all our troubles concerning "E" and "Soc" to our room-mates and friends. Let's decide what we want to take, what we think we ought to take, and go after it.

For a last word, may we all come through our exams with flying colors, or, at worst, "bloody but unbowed."

We admire Bugs Baer's sentiment when he said he would like to know where all his money went and he'd go there too. It seems particularly apropos now at the end of a delightful, but expensive year.

Arcade seats for future serenades will be sold by the Handolph Basement. Come early to avoid the crowd. Chairs and handkerchiefs rented at modest prices.

Conversation daily becomes more and more bromidic. One hears nothing but exams—next years classes—credits—lack of credits—summer school.—Will I? Won't I? Can I?

Prayer is answered. Heat is here, and swimming in the lake has been made possible. Sunburn is rapidly being acquired and "land beauties" are seen strolling the campus each day.

THE OPEN LETTER.

Some misunderstanding seems to have arisen over the Open Letter Column which was started in the NEWS in the fall. The NEWS is very anxious to continue this column and to stimulate an interest in constructive open discussions of matters of current import. This is one of the best ways that the college possesses of getting ideas and opinions before the eyes of the student body. It was only on account of lack of contributions that the column was discontinued.

There are numberless questions arising daily which cause differences of opinions and which, if placed before the students, ought to bring about stimulation of ideas and aid in the solution of our various problems. —S. R.

Dean's Notice To Students.

The Dean reminds students who plan to take subjects for which the hours are not yet arranged, that these should appear on the blue card, the yellow schedule and the course card. Write the names of such courses on the upper right-hand corner of the blue and the yellow cards, until they can be filled in at the time arranged. It is important that this should be done in order that students will not forget to take these hours into consideration when totalling their work for the coming year. There will be difficulty in receiving credit for all of the hours, if the yellow schedule is carried when the Dean has authorized. The attention of all students of applied music and art is particularly called to this notice.

Regarding Summer School Work. The attention of the students is called to the notice concerning summer school work. All students planning to take work at summer schools should secure a white card from the Registrar's office, and enter on it the number and titles of courses to be taken. The signed approval of the head of each department involved is necessary. All cards must be made out and returned to the Dean before May 19th, in order that they may be checked before the meeting of the advanced standing committee, on May 21st.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS THINK.

AMERICAN STUDENTS ABROAD YALE, HARVARD MEN TO MEET IN CONTEST ON ENGLISH WRITING.

Due to the interest in international affairs among the people of the United States, especially since the World War, the number of students going abroad for further study has greatly increased, and a correspondingly keen interest has been aroused in the Rhodes Scholarships. The Scholarships are tenable for three years at the University of Oxford; they carry a stipend of £1400, and the wide range of subjects is equivalent to that of the larger Universities of the United States. In this series of articles some of the advantages of study at Oxford in Law, Medicine and Philosophy have been set forth, and this number is a brief description of the opportunities in the study of Chemistry.

Many and attractive facilities are offered to members of the University for work in this field, as various have been expended during the past two decades in bringing to the scientific aspect of University endeavor to par with that long cherished and justly so, by the humanities. The Natural Science School of Oxford University now ranks among the very best in the world.

Several of the colleges maintain their own chemical laboratories in the addition to the larger University laboratories. The equipment is most comprehensive and modern, and facilities are presented for the construction of special apparatus, as needed. Excellent libraries are maintained in connection with each laboratory, as well as the complete scientific library in the famous Bodleian Private rooms with almost unlimited equipment are provided for those students engaged in research.

The average American Rhodes Scholar will usually receive Senior standing, which will enable him to carry on his studies in his chosen field and to obtain the Bachelor of Arts Degree at the end of his second year.—Smith College Weekly.

Cambridge, Mass.—To promote a series of annual intercollegiate competitions in scholarship between Harvard and other American colleges, the sum of $126,000 has been donated to the university by Mrs. Lowell Putnam, to establish a trust fund in memory of her husband, which will be known as the Lowell Putnam Memorial prize fund for the promotion of scholarships. Mrs. Putnam is a sister of the president of Harvard.

In accord with the stipulations of the gift, a competitive examination will be held with Yale this year in which will probably be the first historical scholastic contest in history.

Five thousand dollars' worth of books will be won for its college library by the victorious team, in addition to individual prizes for the team members.—The Daily Cardinal, University of Wisconsin.

WOMAN'S RISE. An increase of 100 per cent in the number of women college presidents in the past twelve years is reported by the U. S. Bureau of Education. At present 57 universities and colleges are headed by women. Twelve years ago there were only 24 women executives and most of them headed women's seminaries of finishing schools. Now nearly all women's colleges and universities are headed by women.—The New Student.

The hike to the Blackwell's is always fine, though, ask the girls who have hiked it, and sign up before Thursday on the bulletin board.

Faculty Activities

Miss McLaws will spend her summer vacation abroad with the Bureau of International Travel. The tour constitutes in itself a summer school in which the museums and galleries visited are a laboratory for work and provide great inspiration from first hand contact with the masterpiece therein. The chief lecturer will be Lorado Taft, one of the most noted present day American sculptors—the statue in front of the Union Station at Washington is one of his creations.

On the evening of June 29th the party will assemble in New York for dinner at the Woodstock Hotel before sailing July 1st on the S. S. Rotterdam. They will land in Plymouth and proceed to London for a four days' stay and will then go to Paris to remain a week. From there proceeding by way of the Hague, the party will stop for three days in Berlin, and two in Dresden, and then go on to Prague to attend the International Art Congress where representative works of art from all over the world will be assembled. After leaving Prague the group will spend three days in Vienna, two in Nuremberg, and three in Munich. Passing through the Jungfrau Mountains for a three days' stop in Geneva, the party will proceed by way of Paris to Houbigne where they will sail, August 2nd on the S. S. Rotterdam.

Miss Eustis and Miss Milliken will also summer abroad sailing July 2nd. After a Mediterranean Cruise they will land in Genoa and then turn north to visit the Italian Lakes and Riviera. After a stay in Switzerland they will proceed to Paris where Miss Milliken will join her mother who is now residing there. After a month's stay in Paris with them, Miss Eustis will return to this country by way of Cherbourg.

Miss Robinson will spend some time in the east after Commencement, and will visit the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, and Wisconsin University at Madison. From there she will take the Canadian Pacific and proceed by way of Lake Louise, Banff, Vancouver and Seattle to her home in Berkeley, California where she will spend her summer vacation.

Advice Given By Faculty For Choosing Courses

The prevailing notion that psychology is required for the degree is erroneous; philosophy may be elected in its stead. Since the second semester of psychology is a history of the subject, many of the courses studied will be the same as those dealt with in philosophy 1-2. While the two courses are essentially different in approach and treatment, there is necessarily too much duplication for a student to get credit for both courses. An advisable plan would be for a student to take philosophy for the year and at the same time or some other year if more convenient, elect the first semester of psychology for a general knowledge of the subject.

Furthermore neither course must necessarily be taken during the Junior year. If the program for the Sophomore year is comparatively light, either course may be elected then, or taken the Junior year, or even, if more convenient, deferred till the Senior year. One of the two courses continued throughout the year must be completed as a general requirement for the degree.

Magic Purple Card Is Recommended To Students Traveling In Europe

If you happen to be a student and propose to travel in Europe this summer you must give actual proof of your status as a student to obtain the many attractive advantages which European students have secured for themselves and their colleagues overseas. You may, of course, secure these by going to Europe in the N. S. F. A.—C. I. E. Delegation which has five vacancies; (all candidates must register before June 6th), but if you are travelling by yourself, with friends, or in a larger student group, you are strongly recommended to take with you on your travels an International Student Identity Card. This small, handy booklet serves as a general introduction to all the Student Unions in Europe (general information about which may be found in the "Handbook of Student Travel") as well as being an Open Sesame for many things. It interests the interest to the inquiring stranger.

No city today is more interesting from an international point of view than Geneva. It is the meeting place of all nations, as well as being the headquarters of innumerable world societies. Just now the student takes a prominent place in discussion about the world of tomorrow, so he occupies a large place in Geneva. With his Identity Card as an introduction, he may stay at the new C. I. E. hotel at the Ecole Willeman, a large modern school building, open from July 22 to September 12. Here he can have a room for himself (with running water) providing he stays a week or longer, can meet students from every country in the world, and enjoy himself to the full, either physically, in boating on the lake, swimming, or climbing mountains, or intellectually in companionship or lectures.

This card also entitles its holder to a week's membership of the Club of the International Students Union, 10 Rue St. Léger. This club, of which Mr. Harry Gideaux is director, is the intellectual student center in Geneva. Lectures and receptions are held here constantly and all the famous celebrities from Lord Cecil to Sir J. C. Bose, the Indian Scientist, visit it at one time or another.

Paris is acknowledged to be the Mecca for Americans in Europe and almost all visitors going to Geneva pass through it on their way home. Matters of special interest to students here are not well known to the ordinary tourist. All identity card holders are entitled to stay at the new Cité Universitaire by the Porte D'Orleans. This place is very similar to an American University campus with its recreation and lecture halls, and comfortable single bedrooms. An international touch is added by the plan of having every country build a dormitory.

Most important of all, holders of the Identity Card may be admitted to the big International Student Congress to be held by the Confédération Internationale des Etudiants in Paris from August 16th to August 26th, and to be preceded by the International University Games Championships. Here the European students may be seen at work and play, and among them can be found many of the world leaders of tomorrow.

So if you plan to travel this summer and wish for interesting student contacts, as well as visa and railroad reductions and a possible reduced fare flight between Geneva and Paris, be sure to apply to the National Student Federation of America, Foreign Relations Office, 218 Madison Avenue, New York City, for an application blank for the International Student Identity Card as soon as possible.

Courses In Archaeology To Be Offered Next Year

Both the Greek and Latin departments are to be supplemented next year, and new courses will be offered in each, which will deal with Greek and Roman Archaeology. A knowledge of the Greek and Latin language is not pre-requisite to either course. The courses may be elected independently, but it is highly desirable that Greek 9, given during the first semester, should precede Latin 20, the second semester. Lectures will be illustrated with photographs and lantern slides, and the collection of coins and antiques which belong to the classical department and is being increased through the interest of the classical club, will also prove of value.

Miss Robinson, whose specialty is archaeology will give both courses. She was a Fellow of the American Academy in Rome where she spent two years in study, during which time she also traveled extensively all over Greece, the Mediterranean lands, and much of the European continent.

Sweet Briar Boasts Of Composers and Authors

Several Sweet Briar College faculty members and students have become authors and composers during the past year.

Bernadine Wesley Martin, assistant professor of piano, organ, and then retical music at the college, has had four of his compositions accepted recently. Two are organ numbers, "Berceuse" and "Canzonette," and two are anthems. Mr. Martin has been a student at the American Conservatory and at the Sherwood School of Music.

Miss Lisa Guigon, Richmond, Va., a Junior in the college is also listed among the composers, because of violin compositions she has written this year, which have been played by Winston Wilkison, a Virginia musician.

Miss M. Elizabeth J. Czarnomska, professor of biblical and comparative literature, has had the second of a volume of biblical history published, and Dr. Folsom, professor of economics and sociology, is the author of a new sociological textbook, "Culture and Social Progress." Miss Czarnomska is a former student and professor at Smith College, and Dr. Folsom is a Ph. D. from Columbia University.

ple purchase perfume. Models, clothed in costumes suggestive of the perfume they represented, passed before the patronesses, carrying bottles of perfume which they held before the purchasers for their selection.

The last act represented a booth at the Harum Carnival, where a shipment of dolls had been delivered. These dolls came to life and danced for the amusing family of country people which was present, en masse, at the Carnival. The show closed with a song by the shipmen who had introduced the show in the first act.

The music, dancing, costumes and scenery were all splendid, and Katherine Little, the director, is deserving of a great deal of credit for her work. Those who assisted her were Diddy Mathews, dancing; Mona Stone, scenery; Sophia Dunlap, costumes; Marjorie Sturges, program; and Ruth Sims, music.
